

Town Council Deals With Heavy Agenda

Following is a record of the proceedings of the Council of the Town of Wainwright at the regular meeting in the Council chamber on Tuesday, February 11th, 1936.

The members of Council present at this meeting were Mayor J. G. Middlemas and Councillors Link, Lismore, McLeod, Welch and Huntingford.

The recorded proceedings of Council at its regular meeting of January 21st, 1936 were read and, on motion by Coun. Lismore, were adopted and confirmed as written.

Mr. D. W. Parcell wrote, requesting that he be allowed a part of the rental from his building on Lot 11 in Block 7 Plan 445 V, and, on motion by Coun. Huntingford, the secretary-treasurer was instructed to inform Mr. Parcell that Mr. Duckfield has been notified to pay his whole rental to the Town of Wainwright as authorized by the Town and Village Act of the Province.

Notice was received from the Bureau of Relief and Public Welfare of the application made by Mr. W. F. Heckelt for relief and, on motion by Coun. Huntingford, this matter was laid over until the next regular meeting of Council and that inquiries be made through the proper channels with regard to this man's last earnings and the amount of these earnings and also with regard to insurance policy held by him and value of same.

In connection with a telephone message received by the Secretary-treasurer in connection with hospital treatment required by one William Kostachuk, on motion by Coun. Huntingford, it was unanimously resolved that the Department of Municipal Affairs be informed of this matter for reasons already assigned.

Mr. E. Messier wrote Council requesting that body to guarantee his past due gas account and, on motion by Coun. Welch, the secretary-treasurer was instructed to inform Mr. Messier that Council has no intention of paying bills for gas fuel.

The Bureau of Relief and Public Welfare again wrote with reference to relief furnished to Mrs. Myrtle L. Bowers and, on motion by Coun. Huntingford, the secretary-treasurer was instructed to request the said Bureau to contact with Mr. Harry Bowers regarding his proper care and provision for his wife and children and payment of the relief account incurred in their behalf.

The Royal Alexandra Hospital wrote requesting that the Mayor or a member of Council interview the hospital at some time in the future in connection with certain accounts in the payment of which that hospital desires Council to obligate itself and, on motion by Coun. Welch, Mayor Middlemas was delegated to act on behalf of Council in an interview with the hospital officials at some time when the Mayor is in Edmonton.

The Royal Alexandra Hospital wrote inquiring whether their account for the hospital treatment of Pon Yee had been passed for payment and, on motion by Coun. Welch, the secretary-treasurer was instructed to comply with the request.

Hon. W. L. Walsh, Lieut.-Gov. of the Province of Alberta, in a communication to Mayor Middlemas, acknowledged the telegram of condolence, despatched by the Mayor on behalf of the Town of Wainwright, and on motion by Coun.

LEGISLATIVE ASSEMBLY ASSIGNS MEMBERS SEATS

The name cards on the members' benches in the legislative chamber last week in preparation for the sessions show that Premier Aberhart will occupy the fourth seat from the speaker in the cabinet row. On his left will be Hon. E. C. Manning, then Hon. W. A. Fallow and then, nearest the speaker, Hon. C. C. Ross. On the premier's right hand will be Hon. J. W. Huggill, then Hon. Charles Cockcroft, Hon. W. N. Chant and Hon. W. W. Cross.

The women members, Mrs. W. Rogers of Ponoka, and Mrs. E. H. Gostick of Calgary, will sit in the back row of government benches, behind the premier and Mr. Manning.

At the opening of the Eighth Legislative Assembly of the Province of Alberta on Thursday last in Edmonton, His Honor Lieut.-Gov. W. L. Walsh delivered the speech from the throne, and said in part:

Mr. Speaker and Members I assure you that I have every confidence that in our association together we shall be able to perform the important duties to which I now devote you.

We are meeting on this occasion under a cloud of sorrow, owing to the loss of our widely respected and greatly beloved Sovereign, George the Fifth. It is with feeling not less deep and sincere that the people of this Province, together with the other peoples of the British Commonwealth, have acclaimed the accession of His gracious Majesty King Edward VIII, who has a special place in our loyal affections.

In entering upon your duties this Session, your attention will be directed to a full realization of the extent to which general economic conditions of the world continue to affect our people, both urban and rural, and to the fact that the depression shows but little sign of abatement even after six years of devastating influence.

Faced with the possibility of a still further decline in revenue as a

Of Britain, Ireland and the British Dominions Beyond the Seas, King, Defender of the Faith, Emperor of India.

WOULD ALTER WORDING OF OATH OF FEALTY

OTTAWA.—Simplification of oaths for public officials in Canada was suggested by J. S. Woodsworth last week commenting on the refusal of the House of Commons to accept a bill to amend the oath of fealty to the King. Mr. Woodsworth has taken the oath "To be faithful and bear true allegiance to His Majesty King Edward VIII, having taken a similar oath to the late King George V., but he believes the oath should read 'Allegiance to the best interests of the people.'"

Two School Trustees Hold Former Seats

A somewhat apathetic attitude on the part of the electors gave returning officer Kenny and his poll clerk Albert Wittmann an easy day Monday when elections were held to fill the two seats open on the Public School Board. The results as shown below returned the two former members of the Board to their seats thereon for another two-year term apiece.

The final summing up of the voting by the returning officer reads as follows:

Wm. Carsell	80
Alex. Sawers	80
E. V. Springbett	30
F. W. Fish	22

There was one rejected ballot.

result of these conditions the strictest economy will need to be observed and the general scheme of taxation reviewed.

My Government will need to make adequate provisions for feed and seed to relieve the agricultural districts which suffered most heavily from weather conditions and crop failures last year.

The careful administration of direct relief and a whole hearted encouragement of industry and private enterprise should also engage your closest attention.

The economic reconstruction which my Government has promised to undertake, presents many problems, the solution of which involves new conceptions of human rights and social justice. The meeting of these problems fearlessly and without sectional or political bias offers a challenge to Canadian democracy which has attracted world-wide attention. I am confident that the citizens of Alberta will support my Government in this endeavour.

A measure looking to the formulation and adoption of a plan based upon the principles of Social Credit will be submitted for your consideration.

At a time like this it is fitting that you should be asked to take (Continued on Page Four)

St. Andrew's Church Hold Annual Meeting

The annual congregational meeting of St. Andrew's was held on Monday evening, February 9th, at 8 p.m., opening with Psalm 74 and prayer by Rev. W. S. Brooker.

There was a fair attendance in spite of the extreme cold. On motion duly carried, Rev. Brooker was appointed Chairman of the meeting and J. Patterson as Secretary.

The Chairman in his opening remarks outlined the work of the church that has been done during the year. There has been much progress in all the various Associations of the church, each showing a large balance to carry on during the ensuing year.

Mr. W. Carsell presented the Kirk Session report showing that the Kirk Session had worked hard during the year and its work for the benefit of members of the church was much appreciated and accepted.

The Financial Report of the church was given by Mrs. F. Lepper treasurer and this report showed that the church finances were in good shape, there being a large balance on hand to start the ensuing year; much credit being given to the Board of Managers for their splendid work during the year.

The report of the Ladies' Aid was given by Mrs. F. Lepper. This showed that the ladies had been working very hard during the year and that much had been accomplished by their efforts and assistance to the church. They report the best year they have had for many years.

The Sunday School report was given by Mrs. D. Walker, the secretary. This report also showed much progress had been made and a large increase in numbers, and scholars as well as in finances.

The choir reported a successful year in their operations and a balance increase in bank to swell the organ fund. This was given by Mr. W. Carsell.

The election for the new Board of Managers for 1936 resulted as follows:—J. Patterson, chairman, Mrs. W. Brunker, secretary; Mrs. Lepper, treasurer; Mrs. R. Dunsmore, Mr. P. Fleming and Mr. Alf Lilly, Jr.

There were several discussions in connection with the Welfare of the Church, after which the meeting closed with a hymn and prayer. Light refreshments were served by the ladies before those present departed.

OPPOSITION TO SEEK OPINIONS RE DISMISSALS

Investigation into all dismissals and appointments since the Social Credit government took office, will be demanded by the opposition during the legislative session. It is learned in reliable sources, the investigation probably will be conducted by the public accounts committee.

In this probe, present and past government employees in Edmonton, Calgary, Drumheller, Medicine Hat and elsewhere will be affected.

If the proposed probe is approved by the house, present employees will be summoned to appear and dismissed employees will be asked to give evidence.

Firing of the salute from guns of the 92nd battery, commenced just after 2.30 p.m., at which time the lieutenant-governor left Government House for the legislative Buildings.

For the first time in years, His Honor was not accompanied by a mounted escort of the R.C.M.P. Owing to the severe cold, he had asked that arrangements for the escort be cancelled.

At the buildings a guard of honor of 100 men was drawn up within the rotunda.

Sharply at 3.00 p.m., with all the members in their seats, Robert Anderson, clerk of the assembly, rose and read the proclamation calling the session. He then read the certificates of election of members as a result of the general election.

Announced by Capt. H. S. Newby, new sergeant-at-arms, the lieutenant-governor then entered the crowded chamber, accompanied by his official party, and took his seat on the throne.

FEDERAL C. C. F. MEMBER
OTTAWA.—Rev. T. C. Douglas, elected as C.C.F. Social Credit candidate for Westburn, Sask., has decided to throw in his lot in the house with J. S. Woodsworth and definitely align himself with the C.C.F.

The Social Credit group had numbered Mr. Douglas as one of their party, making their membership eighteen, but Mr. Douglas settled the question by acknowledging J. S. Woodsworth as his house leader and the C.C.F. as his party.

Lord Tweedsmuir Opens Parliament

OTTAWA.—The text of the Speech from the Throne, read by the Governor-General to parliament on Thursday last and in part:

Honorable members of the Senate: Members of the House of Commons: I meet with you under the shadow of the loss which Canada, in common with all parts of the Empire, has sustained in the death of our late beloved sovereign, King George V. The sorrow so universally expressed is but one of the many evidences of the great regard in which his late Majesty was held by all men and nations.

In no part of the King's dominion has the sense of national and personal loss been more deeply felt than in Canada.

I join with you in extending profound sympathy in their bereavement to King Edward VIII, Her Majesty Queen Mary, and all the members of the royal family.

I am profoundly sensible of the great honor of having been chosen as the King's representative in Canada. It is with the greatest pleasure that I look forward to the associations of the next few years.

My ministers are confident they express the conviction of the people of Canada in adhering to the aims and ideals of the League of Nations. Unemployment continues to be Canada's most urgent national problem. While there is an increase of the number of persons, the number of those on relief shows no abatement.

As a means of dealing with present emergency conditions, you will be asked, with the approval of the governments of all the provinces of Canada, to make provision for the establishment of a representative national commission, which will co-operate with the provinces and municipalities in an endeavor to provide work for the unemployed, and in the supervision of unemployment relief.

A Royal Commission has been appointed to inquire into conditions in the textile industry.

My ministers are of the opinion that industries should recognize an obligation to co-operate in every manner possible in continuing and providing employment, and that labor and consumers have a right to have their voice heard, and influence felt, in the control of industrial policy.

With a view to safeguarding the interests of consumers a full inquiry will be instituted into representations which continue to be made respecting monopolistic control of the importation and distribution of asphaltic coal.

In order to determine the question of their validity, reference has been made to the supreme court of Canada of a number of measures enacted at the last session of parliament.

I am happy to be able to inform you that a trade agreement between Canada and the United States of America was concluded on Armistice Day, 1935, and that the trade dispute with Japan, which had seriously affected the trade of both countries, was adjusted before the end of the old year.

You will be pleased to know that the policy of the Canadian wheat board in selling wheat at competitive prices is bringing satisfactory results.

It is proposed to restore to parliament its control over taxation and expenditure by ending all measures which have deprived members of the House of Commons of this control, and which have served to invest the executive with unwarranted arbitrary powers.

Every effort will be made to substitute stability for uncertainty in the administration of customs laws.

The control of credit, and the issue of currency, being public matters of direct concern, it is intended at the present session to ask parliament to make such changes in the ownership and control of the Bank of Canada as may be necessary to give the government a predominant interest in the ownership as well as effective control of the bank.

You will be asked to consider amendments to existing legislation respecting the Canadian National Railways, which will serve to afford a greater measure of governmental authority and responsibility to parliament.

It is proposed to make the present position of radio broadcasting in Canada the subject of inquiry by a special committee of the House of Commons.

A reduction from twenty-one to sixteen has been made in the number of ministers of the crown.

A bill to provide for creation of parliamentary secretariats will be submitted for your consideration.

Members of the House of Commons: The public accounts of the last fiscal year and the estimates for the coming year will be submitted for your consideration.

Honorable members of the Senate: Members of the House of Commons: In inviting your careful consideration to the important matters which will engage your attention, I pray that divine providence may guide and bless your deliberations.

The statutory meeting of the 1936 Town Council will be held on Monday evening at 8 p.m. when the committees for the year's work will be appointed.

Prem. Names Attorney General House Leader
Hon. J. W. Huggill, K.C., attorney general during the session will act as house leader of the government when Premier William Aberhart is not present, it was learned last week.

Asked if this was his intention, the Premier confirmed it.

Since the government took office the attorney-general has taken the most active part in advising the premier on matters of parliamentary procedure and legal routine, his practice at the legal bar fitting him for this calling.

Card of Thanks
Mr. and Mrs. C. Morrisette wish to extend to all kind friends their heartfelt thanks for the tokens of love and sympathy shown them in their recent bereavement in the loss of their brother.

Use Wain. Buffalo Save Europe's Bison

Canada's success in saving the buffalo from extinction has been heralded as one of the outstanding achievements in the preservation of native fauna, and now the Canadian bison is to be used in an effort to perpetuate the European bison.

As a result of arrangements completed between the National Parks Branch of the Dominion Department of the Interior and the Berlin (Germany) Zoological Gardens, twenty buffalo from the herds in our National Park here are to be used in breeding experiments with European bison. Nineteen buffalo cows and one bull, selected and choice specimens two years old, have been shipped to Germany from Wainwright.

POLETTICS . . . newspapers

It is just forty years since a began as a young reporter to "cover" national politics. In 1896 I spent half the summer on Major McKinley's front porch at Canton, Ohio, and the other half traveling around with William J. Bryan on his special trains. That was the first time a Presidential candidate had ever attempted to talk to all the voters.

Political campaigning has taken on an entirely new aspect since radio broadcasting was first used in the campaign of 1920. This year it looks to me as if it would be a battle between Mr. Roosevelt and whomever the Republicans nominate. It will be an interesting show. Each candidate will do his best to stir up the emotions of his hearers. But in 1936, as in 1896, I think the result will be determined by the sober facts as they are presented in the newspapers.

FARMING . . . still problem

I can't remember a time when there wasn't a farm problem pressing to the front in national politics. George Washington faced a serious farm problem when he was President. The "Whiskey Rebellion" of 1794 was a protest of the farmers in what was then the West against a Federal tax on whiskey. The only way they could profitably market their grain was by converting it into whiskey. That was before there were railroads or good highways.

After observing a succession of farmers' political movements for farm relief all my lifetime, they all seem to me to have a common root. Farming at best is a hazardous occupation. To succeed in it takes a combination of natural talent, high intelligence, intense industry and great capacity for self-denial. Also, usually, more capital than most beginning farmers can command.

In other words, farmers are just about like the rest of us.

CABBAGES . . . Joe character

Agricultural experimenters at Cornell University have developed an ordorless cabbage. I am still undecided as to whether that is an advantage or not. The senses of smell and taste are so closely tied together that I would have to eat a dish of the smellless cabbage before I could be sure that it would taste as good as the old-fashioned kind.

I think most of the objection to the cabbage comes from housewives who don't like the way it smells up the house.

Most people cook cabbage too long, anyway. My wife pulls the leaves apart and throws them into boiling water for 20 minutes. Try that way sometime.

WAIT . . . his engine

Everybody that uses electric light pays for it by the watt—so much per 1,000 watts—kilowatts—per hour. But the name "Watt" comes from a man who never dreamed of electric light. He was James Watt, inventor of the modern steam engine, who was born just 200 years ago.

In a real sense, however, James Watt, the Scotch boy who put steam to work was the great grandchild of electric power; for you could cover the world with electric wires and get nothing out of them if you didn't have an engine to turn the dynamo.

James Watt's steam engine turned the world upside down. It started the industrial revolution and the machine age. It is at the root of all our modern social and economic problems. It is no wonder that we have not yet learned the answers to all of these problems, for it is less than 200 years since the seed of them was sown. That is a very short time.

RAILROADS . . . distribution

The railroads have scored another point in the battle with motor trucks for freight transportation. The Interstate Commerce Commission has at last authorized the roads to operate their own freight pick-up and delivery systems. This removes one of their handicaps. One reason why motor transportation of freight has grown so rapidly is that the truck can back up to your door and take on a load, and deliver it at the other end of the line, while the shipper and consignee of railroad freight have had to provide their own truck service to and from the railroad stations.

The new system should make for faster and cheaper distribution of commodities, and so help in solving one of our chief economic and social problems. One of the chief reasons why everybody cannot have plenty of everything, when farms and factories can produce enough for everybody is the high cost and lost motion in the process of distribution to the consumer.

REDUCTION IN ALTA.

PHONE RATES LIKELY

Announcement of important rate
changes on international and transcontinental long distance telephone calls and that consideration was
being given to rate changes for traffic between Alberta and Saskatchewan, Alberta and British Columbia, and within Alberta boundaries,
is made by Hon. W. A. Fallow, minister of railways and telephones.

The Minister stated, however,
that it was unlikely that the changes would be announced on the intra-provincial calls and those to Saskatchewan and British Columbia
until the end of the current fiscal year.

In announcing changes in the transcontinental rates the minister
announced that evening station
to station rates would be now effective
all day Sunday and a new departure
was instituted, which permitted evening rates from 7 p.m. until 4.30
a.m. on person-to-person calls.
These rates also will be effective
on Sundays so that from 7 p.m. on Saturday evening until 4.30 a.m. on Monday, the lower rates are available.

NEW LEGISLATION TO CONTROL HIGHWAY TRAFFIC

Probability of uniform legislation
being enacted in all provinces of the dominion governing regulation and
operation of bus and truck traffic
was indicated last week by Hon. W.
A. Fallow, minister of public works.
This legislation will be the outcome of the December Dominion-Provincial conference at Ottawa,
and of several previous conferences
on the matter.

In December, Alberta brought to the attention of the conference the necessity of greater regulation of bus and truck traffic in view of the increasing competition with railways and the less taxes and contributions to the public treasury by bus and truck companies.

There are 11 major points to be covered in the proposed bill, all of which will aim to exercise greater
control over highways traffic.
Schedules of fees for various
classes of traffic will be provided.
Alberta also is urging that a transportation commission be established to control railway, highway
and other traffic instead of having
just a railway commission as at present.

Just a Nurse or the Right Nurse

Condensed from Scribner's for Readers' Digest

Most of us have had nurses who represent the community, and ministrations we are never able to recall without a warm rush of affection, an enduring sense of gratitude. In those dark hours when all the world recedes and we are left with only our battle with the invisible powers of death, such a nurse became part of our being. But most of us have also known nurses the very memory of whom makes the tongue taste bitter—stupid, endlessly talkative nurses who are grand in emergency, but bored by routine, or the wrong kind of nurse, such as an obstetrical nurse for scarlet fever, a surgical nurse for pneumonia.

Nurses, also, have complaints to make. Over half of them still do 24-hour duty; the average busy nurse is broken at 36 to 40 years of age. But most nurses are not busy; the market is flooded with nurses. Even before the depression they were averaging only five months' work per year, and today in many places it is from 25 to 75 days' work a year. Few are able to save for old age.

This mutual dissatisfaction of nurses and patients can be traced to hospital control of nursing education. They are used as a source of cheap labor. Hence, mass production of nurses without regard to demand—merely to get student nursing done for keep and $10 a month.

In too many cases not even a high-school education is required for entrance. Standards of training too, are low. Hospitals with less than 50 beds cannot possibly give their students an adequate training in all the ill to which flesh is subject. The greatest deficiency in training, however, is for work outside the hospital. Student nurses get no experience in adapting themselves to home nursing, in devising makeshifts to take the place of hospital equipment, in taking charge of a disorganized family, or in running a house when the mother is ill. And seldom do they receive any training for the public health field, which means not only home nursing for the poor but teaching them habits that will prevent illness.

It is only a little over 60 years since Florence Nightingale, practically wiped out the hospital death rate during the Crimean war by demonstrating the importance of training women to care for the sick and wounded. Hospitals had to train their own nurses. These nursing schools came to be owned and controlled by hospitals. Latterly, however, there has been growing up a conviction among forward-looking hospital heads, nurses, doctors, trustees and the civic-minded that this domination was not only unsocial but possibly uneconomic.

These varied groups organized a committee on the Grading of Nursing Schools (financed at a cost of nearly $300,000) which has published an exhaustive survey of the training given by hundreds of hospitals. The findings prove conclusively that the nursing school should be divorced from the hospital. The former should have its own board of trustees, partly composed of members

The Family DOCTOR

JOHN JOSEPH GAINES, M.D.

THE WAR ON "GAS"

They're trying to outlaw gas as a weapon of warfare. And I've been fighting "gas" in my patients all my professional life. Yes, gas has been outlawed. It comes through a meter for the range, and you run certain risks of being blown up there, if you don't watch your step.

I have learned a few things about the "gas-patient." The first, I don't like to hurry a patient with "just gas." I ask myself, when I begin to show symptoms of indigestion. I find the cause of discomfort right there, nine times out of ten—just over-indulgence in eating. You, dear reader, may find the same thing in your own case. Attend to volume in diet.

Next, I learn that gases will accumulate if the sewer is clogged. To combat this, I use a simple but effective laxative to relieve immediate distress. This MUST be done. Always with a MILD but CERTAIN laxative. Then shut off the excess of eating for a few days. This will cure the average patient with "just gas."

Third, there may be fermentation in the digestive tract. I find this in the fellow who is extremely nervous, or the worried, anxious patient. The bowels are not really constipated, and there is belching, eructations, sour always. The mild, alkaline laxative again, with alkaline powders for a few days to neutralize excesses of acid. Mild diet, and the nerves.

Rarely do I prescribe an artificial digestive, unless my patient is confined to bed with disease of other organs than the stomach. I don't like to hurry a stomach that needs rest, nor do I encourage a lazy one by doing its work for it.

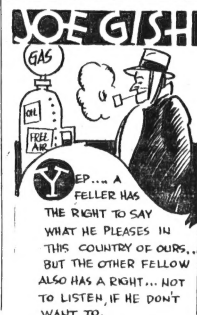

you the best nurse they can for the price you can afford to pay. An hourly service is also being attempted by the nursing bureau for people ill at home who need only an hour or two of care or some special dressings. It is something like the Visiting Nurse Service for the poor, but it must pay its way. The National Board of Fire Underwriters' final verdict was that the wood was non-inflammable.

FIRE-RETARDANT WOOD

CHEMISTRY'S LATEST

Coinciding with the statement of United States builders and insurance men that the United States fire losses for 1935 amounted to 10,000 human lives and cost $245,000,000, comes a report from the National Board of Fire Underwriters containing an assurance that there is such a thing as fire-retardant wood.

The wood tested by the Board was red oak and maple which had been thoroughly and uniformly impregnated in pressure tanks containing ammonium salts a fireproofing compound which, it is not perhaps generally known, has actually been procurable in Canada for at least two years. The treated wood is almost the same in appearance as ordinary wood but is a little heavier because of the salt content. It is easily toolled and takes varnish well. The investigators of the Board

LIBERTY MAGAZINE'S CANADIAN HALL OF FAME No. 24

His Worship Joseph Emile Lausier is famous as the "Flying Magistrate" of Canada. In a plane equipped with pontoons he flies over a vast uninhabited territory covering a judicial district that extends from the western boundary of Manitoba to the eastern border of Alberta and from points south of the Saskatchewan River north to the great Churchill River chain region.

Crammed into his small airship with his documents and bags, he pilots his way over some of the world's worst flying country to his courts in far-flung settlements and trapping posts. He knows his region well, and can recognize most of the ridges and lakes of the northern area from half a mile up.

He can pilot a dog team as expertly as his plane and at times has been called upon to use every mode of travel known to the far north.
As a jurist, Judge Lausier's record is exceptional in that his decisions have seldom brought appeals and not one reversal, while his judgments are being quoted extensively.
He is a graduate of Laval University and was a member of the Saskatchewan bar before his appointment to office. Has ambitions to write popular articles. He is married and has three children.

WEDNESDAY, FEBRUARY 12th, 1936
THE DOG NUISANCE
The old adage "Love me, love my dog" is one upon which many will
both agree and disagree, but the notice which appears in another column of this issue regarding the registration of "misbehaving, faithful friend" is both opportune and necessary.
During the past couple of weeks,
numbers of dogs of the truly monstrous breed have been roaming the streets in such a way as to make their presence nothing short of a public nuisance, and in addition the howls of these packs during the night hours are something which
no one should have to put up with
in a tax-paying community.
The bylaw of the town which
governs this matter is clear and explicit, and unless any dog found at large on the streets is wearing a registration tag, the alleged owner of the animal is liable for prosecution,
and the dog liable for destruction;
the latter being particularly in the case where the owner is not found
or fails to declare himself.
So far as Wainwright is concerned
the dog nuisance has been on the
tap for years owing to the bylaw
governing the matter having been
most flagrantly flouted, and it is highly time that law and order
shall prevail in this regard.
Animals such as these running at large, become little less than a menace to public health and safety, and
in many places are caught up and destroyed forthwith, and the decision of the Town Council that this
be dealt with strictly according to
the bylaw is a worthy step in the right direction.
Any dog-lover or dog-owner who feels that the possession of any such
animal is not worth the small fee
charged for the right to possess
should be well satisfied that "doggy"
is sent to that Valhalla which is the final bourne of such pets, and that any nuisance which it might create
has been stopped.
MORAL—Get that 1936 dog tag
and collar on "Fido" at once, or burn the bones instead of saving
them for him (or her!) for the
policeman has his instructions.

ANOTHER TERROR ELIMINATED
In the old days, before the discovery of anesthetics, dentists'
chairs used to be equipped with straps to keep the patient from leaping out of the window when the den-
tist's instrument struck a nerve.
Folks didn't bother much with fillings, or those good old days. If a tooth ached it was pulled out, and the best dentist was the one who had the strongest fingers. Teeth that couldn't be pulled by the fingers
were knocked out with a mallet and chisel.
Seeking a way to make dentistry
less painful, an American dentist
named Horace Wells discovered, in 1844, that nitrous oxide, which is called "laughing gas," would render a person unconscious of pain
— and everything else for long enough to extract the most resistant
molar. That was a great stride
forward in human knowledge; and
an even longer step was taken two years later by another American dentist, Dr. W. T. G. Morton, who discovered the anesthetic properties
of ether in 1846.
For the first time in history, major surgical operations could be performed without pain to the patient. Previously surgeons either
had to knock their patients unconscious by hitting them on the head
or strap them to the operating table
and let them scream.
Now the dental profession has
once more added to the world's knowledge and its comfort by the discovery of a compound which, applied to the tooth, renders it insensitive to the pain of the dentist's
drill. Dr. LeRoy L. Hartman, professor of dentistry in Columbia University produced the formula after 30 years of research, and instead of suffering its pain, it has been applied to the world. Thousands of dentists began to use the new "Hartman's Solution"—which any pharmacist
can make—on the day the formula
was published, and while it still
does not make a visit to the dentist
exactly a popular amusement, it robs
the ordeal of many of its terrors.
"Painless dentistry" is at last pretty nearly a reality.

"CAN DO" AND "MAY DO"
Whether they live in democratic
or autocratic states, men do not live unto themselves alone, says the Christian Science Monitor. Absolute
human freedom does not exist,
and can not exist.
Recognizing the fallibility of man-
kind, those nations called civilized
have imposed upon themselves the duty of governing many of men's actions. Such government is a check upon the individual in the interest of society. Dictators decree
"You must not"; democracies agree
"We will not."
There is, however, a last domain
wider, of course, than the political
one—where human action is not prescribed or proscribed by positive law. Lord Moulton, a noted judge and great Parliamentary Minister of Great Britain, at the outbreak of the World War, called it
"the domain of the Unenforceable." It is a realm, he declared, that lies between positive law and free choice,
or absolute freedom. The first binds
men's actions within certain limits,
the other "includes all those actions
to which we claim and enjoy
complete freedom."
Lord Moulton defined the domain
which exists between positive law
and absolute freedom as "the obedience of a man to that which he concludes is the true test of greatness is the extent to which the individuals composing the nation can
be trusted to obey self-imposed law."
The British jurist was thinking primarily of nations. The application of his reasoning to individuals and groups is equally pertinent. In some states no law, for instance,
rules positively that a man cannot indulge "reasonably" his desire for liquor and then take the wheel of
a high-powered automobile, the driving of which today requires a high degree of care; no law rules that a unscrupulous newspaper, notoriously candor to morbid curiosity, cannot invade the privacy of citizen's lives. Minorities may be tyrannized
by majorities which use the parliamentary power they possess to en-
act legislation disregarding all rights
of those minorities. Absolute freedom exists in these cases and a multiplicity of other cases. From this comes the false reasoning of many who
because they "can do" determine that they "may do." To such the Golden Rule is a dead letter and
no less an oblige is a hindrance to selfish purpose.
As men and nations grow in their respect for the rights of others, self-
restraint will be seen as less a duty
than a privilege, as the highest form
of human law to which men can submit themselves. Governed by unselfish consideration for others, men
will be truly self-governed, because
they will be patterning their actions
on the Master's compassionate injunction, "Thou shalt love thy neighbor as thyself."

OUR VETERANS ARE DIFFERENT
Leading Canadians constantly
point out that, because of our geographical situation, anything happening in the United States, is, in some degree important to us in Canada. We read American newspapers and magazines. We see American motion pictures. We listen to American radio programmes. Without knowing it, we absorb day after day countless American influences,

many of them no doubt, good
others, quite definitely not so good.
This being the case, it is not surprising that, here and there in Canada, individuals are beginning to talk about the recently adopted
legislation at Washington which will pay a lump sum of $10,000 to those who served in the American Expeditionary Forces between 1917 and 1919. Some of this opinion is frankly envious, and there are people who
without thinking, express the view
that if this bonus is to be paid in the United States, something of the same sort might be done in Canada.
It seems to be the part of sound
judgment at this moment to point
out that circumstances in this country are entirely different and the basic spirit and temperament of the Canadian veteran organizations is vastly different from that of the American veteran body which, after years of vigorous, sometimes dramatic, political campaigning, has
smashed the bonus vote through Congress over the Presidential veto.
Canadian veteran organizations
have never played politics, and that we think, is to their credit. They have concerned themselves entirely
with the personal welfare of the veteran, not threatening, not attacking parliament, or individuals in high places, but seeking facts, pre-
serving evidence in orderly fashion,
always avoiding extravagant words
or actions which lead only to antagonism, even in victory.
The conduct of our veterans has
ever since the war, been admirable.
Much of this conciliatory co-operative spirit is due to the nature of the organizations pledged to forward the welfare of the Canadian
ex-service man. The oldest of them
all, The Army and Navy Veterans
in Canada, has a record of ninety-
six years behind it. Penian Reid, Reil Bebellon, and Boer War war
veterans were members of this organization many generations before 1914. With such a tradition behind them, Canadian veterans are less
disposed toward political excesses
than those ambitious young men of the United States. Our veterans are different.

FIRST SOCIAL CREDIT LEGISLATURE IS OPENED
steps to stabilize the financial industry by improving prices, enlarging
the markets and reducing the overhead charges as far as practicable.
The prevailing high rates of interest both of public and private indebtedness are matters of grave and
general concern which occupy a prominent place in the deliberations of any Government.
Some definite action should be
taken by you through which capital
may be made available to the citizens in building and rebuilding programmes in the towns and cities of our Province.
Some consideration will need to be given to the improvement of Public Health Services, notwithstanding the necessity for rigid economy due to falling revenues. A general review
of provincial hospitalization, municipal health contracts, and the Workmen's Compensation Act will have
the attention of my Government.
In no sphere is there more need of careful legislation at this time than
in that of Education. The reduced resulting in decreased
fruits has made the maintenance of the schools, both elementary, secondary and University, most difficult.
My Government will, as soon as possible, institute legislation for the efficient co-operation and co-ordination of Rural Schools.
It is quite evident that the problem of caring for our highways and secondary roads needs careful supervision. Transportation regulations,
in using control and hard surfacing
of main highways are questions that must be faced very definitely.
The opening up and development
of our vast resources, the encouragement of new industries, together
with the recovery and rehabilitation
of the Southern Irrigation Districts,
present subjects of profitable investigation.
A number of measures will be brought before you dealing with matters of general importance and
for the purpose of amending certain existing Statutes.
Amongst other measures to be submitted for your consideration is
a Bill providing for the Recall of Members of the Legislative assembly.

European bison total not more than twenty animals, distributed in England, the Netherlands, Sweden, Pol-
and, Hungary, Austria, Switzerland
and Germany, and international efforts fostered by the American Bison Society are being made to save the species from extinction. Dr.
Lutz Heck, Director of the Berlin
Zoological Gardens, has taken the leading part in this effort and under
his direction the Wainwright buffalo
will be distributed to various parts
of Germany where there are small herds of bison. By means of cross-breeding, and subsequent "out-

purebred herd of European bison
will be developed and its perpetuation assured.

It was unanimously resolved that
the Assessors of the Price O.D.H.

On motion by Coun. Huntington,

to submit to the proper authority
an account of $20.00 for use of the fire apparatus at the R.C.M.P. barracks in Wainwright on February 8th, 1936, this amount being the Town's out of pocket costs in qualifying this fire.
On motion by Coun. Lismore, it was unanimously resolved that public notices be given through the medium of the Wainwright Star that
all owners and harborers of dogs
within the Town of Wainwright
must register such dogs at the office of the secretary-treasurer, pay-

On motion, Council was regularly adjourned.

INCREASED BUSINESS IN SUN LIFE REPORT
MONTREAL.—Definite signs of
an improvement in general business conditions can be gathered from the 55th Annual Report of the Sun Life Assurance Company of Canada just released for publication by Arthur
B. Wood, President and Managing Director. The statement reflects
the stability of life insurance, a voluntary co-operative movement
which for generations has stood
every test.
The Sun Life's financial statement for 1935 shows further strengthening and improvement, just as the best year for 1934 showed progress
over 1933, the year the depression
reached its low point.
Assets of the Sun Life Assurance
Company of Canada stood at a 33.38 per cent. high at the year-end and cash equivalents on hand exceeded any previous year in the history of the company and were twenty-four per cent greater than 1934.
Another definite sign of improved
business and a lessening of unemployment, gathered at the meeting
in the increase in Group Assurance.
Designed primarily for commercial and industrial plants. This phase of the Sun Life's business also shows a big increase for the year of
twenty-three per cent.
Mr. Wood, in commenting on general business conditions in the countries where the Sun Life operates stated that the world is slowly but surely emerging from the depression and that all those indices by which business improvement is judged
clearly indicate that fundamental economic forces are gradually
having their effect in bringing about recovery and that this continent is steadily approaching normal conditions.

Registration of DOGS
PUBLIC NOTICE is hereby given that,
on and after the publication of this notice, all
owners and harborers of unregistered dogs

themselves to prosecution under By-Law No.
192 of the Town of Wainwright which prescribes the penalty for failure to register such dogs in the office of the Secretary-Treasurer.
This notice is published by order of council.
DATED at Wainwright, Alberta, this 5th
day of February, A.D. 1936.

AUBURNDALE

Councillor W. A. Hetherington of Div. 1, M.D., Buffalo, Quebec, on being consulted by your correspondent after his return from Edmonton where he had gone as one of a delegation to interview the Minister of Public Works in regard to the proposed highway between Wainwright and Vermilion, was very optimistic. He expressed his pleasure at the favorable reception accorded the delegation by the Hon. W. A. Fallow, who assured them that his department was going to go through into the matter and that actual work on the highway would commence as soon as the route had been surveyed by competent surveyors, who would be instructed to take into consideration the needs of everybody concerned so as to make the highway a really useful improvement.

Mr. Eric Richardson, an Auburndale old-timer, returned from the Old Country last week and is now back at Tielt River, Graham Island, B.C. There were no brass bands this time to welcome him when he arrived in the Old Country or bid him farewell when he left, as in 1915-1919 when he was over there last with the C. E. F. War has some compensations after all.

The folks around here have been getting nice big piles of wood sawn up. Every housewife likes to see a nice big pile of sawn firewood in her back yard. A big pile of sawn firewood is to a Canadian what a fat pig is to an Irishman—a comfortable thing to look at. Thank heaven we have plenty of firewood in this country.

Little Irene Eyben, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Herman Eyben had her shoulder blade broken through having fallen off the roof of an outhouse while at play. She is receiving medical attention.

Mr. P. Richardson made a trip to Wainwright last week and had his teeth extracted. He found the weather cold and the roads heavy with drifted snow.

MAYFIELD

On Wednesday, February 8th, a number of young people gathered at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Alex. Souter to celebrate Miss Helen Souter's ninth birthday. What might have proved a disastrous fire was averted at noon on Monday by quick handling. It appears that some clothes drying on a chair in front of a fire at the home of Henry Coderre were pulled into contact with the fire and caught alight. Happily the damage was slight.

AMONG THE OLD-TIMERS

"REMINISCENCES OF OTHER DAYS"

RUSSIAN LOVE DRAMA

"WE LIVE AGAIN"

Under the title "We Live Again" Tolstoy's great romantic drama, intelligently modernized is brought to the screen. It is a love story; the story of a prince and a peasant, a woman who was wronged and who sought to suffer life's greatest sorrow, yet keep her secret so that in the end the man who wicked her dreams came pleading for forgiveness. Out of this their great love born.

Returning home, Prince Dmitri an aristocrat who entertains radical ideas, is charmed in the manner in which peasant Katusha has developed into womanhood. Their summer companionship develops into an idyllic romance. Before parting they vow eternal faith.

Two years pass, during which Dmitri, forgetting his illusions surrenders himself to the liberal life of his class. They meet again following the spectacular Russian Midnight Easter Mass. Both give way to their love and in the morning Dmitri flies.

Years pass and Dmitri has forgotten all about his youthful dreams, even the girl. Retired from the army he is called on a jury duty. Katusha is being tried for complicity in murder. Hearing her name he remembers—and—

The leading roles are played by Anna Sten and Frederic March. It's a picture that is well worth seeing and is showing at the Elite on Friday and Saturday of this week.

HIGHWAY DEPARTMENTS

TACKLE ICE ROADS

Tackling the problems of icy pavements which early this winter kept the hospitals busy patching minor hurts, the garage and repair shops busy taking out dents in fenders and changing smashed wheels, and which caused innumerable delays to traffic and bus truck schedules, the Highway Department at Queen's Park, Toronto, has now built up an organization that enables it to send 3,000 miles of highway within three hours after the need arises. This represents not only a marvelous feat in getting the work accomplished in the time stated but it is also a step that has not yet been thought of as practical in the United States where there is a tendency to look for precedence and leadership in highway matters.

Past trucks, mechanical spreaders and a smooth organization directed by wide-awake engineers have made this method of spreading the abrasive an accomplished fact.

The costs were at first prohibitive, but as the problem was studied, new means were devised and the costs came down.

The materials used for the abrasive are sand, cinders and stone chips. Lumps are broken up or eliminated to ensure a smooth flow through the spreaders. Common salt is used in an admixture to keep the sand piles from freezing as they must be available in coldest weather for immediate use. The salt also allows the abrasive to embed itself in the icy surface, thus preventing wind and traffic cleaning the surface in short order. By treating in this manner, the material is held on the pavement, not only providing traction but at the same time tending to tear off the ice and thereby expose the bare pavement.

The Department at Queen's Park has the stock piles of the mixture spread at convenient points where they are available in all weathers. Trucks are speedily loaded, mechanical spreaders attached, and with a couple of men shovelling grit into the spreader the road surface is quickly covered with a thin layer of the abrasive. Piles have been so located that one truck can cover several miles of highway or street without the necessity of losing time through running empty over the route.

The department engineers report a wider usage of the roads and a decrease in the number of accidents.

Canadian trade with British Malaya is increasing. British Malaya is the name applied to the colony of the Straits Settlements (including Singapore, Penang, Malacca, Labuan, Christmas Island and Cocos Islands) the Federated Malay States (Perak, Selangor, Negri Sembilan, and Pahang), and the Unfederated Malay States (Johore, Kedah, Trengganu, Kelantan and Perlis).

In its campaign to popularize marriage, the Italian government has followed the course of the Canadian National Steamships in extending special privileges to honeymooners.

SEVENTH INSTALLMENT

Clare was ducking through the curtains into her bedroom, her dark head turned over her shoulder, invitation on her lips. Peter was at her heels. Jenny could see his back as he bent his head to go under the curtain. His hand shot out and caught at his companion's upper arm as he disappeared from view. Jenny closed her eyes and clutched at her heart. She had not believed it possible, in spite of Peter's recent coolness. Her face went white as she stood in the corridor, weakly clutching the handrail. The boat lurched and her feet moved mechanically along the linoleum-covered corridor. She knew that she must be walking like an absurd marionette. Now she had arrived at her own stateroom. She walked under the curtain and hooked the door.

Jenny lay down on her bed and covered her eyes with fingers that fluttered nervously. Her throat was swelling till she thought she would choke. It couldn't be possible—not now—so soon. They had been together only two months. She had run away for a lifetime, believing that Peter loved her enough to spare her all regret, and now it was like this, with a cheap woman on the boat. "What a blind fool I've been!" she thought. "He can't have loved me at all, not for a minute. But it isn't his fault. I brought it on myself."

Dick was dancing with Patty under plastic lanterns that swayed like drunken sailors. She looked like a puff-bell in a cascade of white chiffon. Hard to believe that she was the thin young thing who had slipped through the water that afternoon like a sharp blade.

"Patty, you're looking very sweet tonight," he said, humming the waltz as he swung her around.

"And I could dance forever with you, Dick."

"It's the sky and the lanterns you like, silly infant."

"Now you're teasing."

"Honor bright, I'm not." The waltz came to an end and they sat down.

"I think the boat's getting a little dull," said Patty suddenly.

Dick laughed.

"I wish it were," he said.

"Why, what's going on?"

"Plenty, Patty. You don't suppose that everything's as smooth as it looks on the promenade deck, do you? You can't believe that the men down below go calmly along week after week, in this infernal heat without disturbance? We had one man try to stab another today, and the chef threw a carving-knife at a pantry boy last Wednesday, and men fall sick and in love and behave like a lot of puppies generally."

"Really, I'm amazed," said Patty. "Everything seems so orderly and serene."

Dick laughed. "Well I'm glad that ning away from his wife and is deluged with frantic radios every day. And the American whose fortune has shrunk from seven millions to blue ruin since he sailed. Haven't you seen him hanging around the stock-board? He faces bankruptcy and endless troubles when he gets back. And there's the splinter who filled her pockets with pebbles by the Sea of Galilee, and has fallen madly in love with the captain, who has never spoken a word to her.

"Oh, how thrilling!" cried Patty. "I never thought of it in that light. Do you always have things like this happen on a cruise?"

"Of course we do. This is a comparatively dull one so far. I've given you only the sketchiest idea of what takes place on a cruising boat. I call it ocean madness. Roll a score of Atlantic crossings into one; add moonlight on Waikiki Beach, sunset on the Indian Ocean, night in Peking and cherry blossoms in Japan, fling together men and women away from their homes, their friends, the forces that impose restraint—and what have you?"

Patty lay awake for hours that night, thinking of the Mareña as a vast building with dozens of separate apartments, and a little drama going on in each.

Down in 454 Miss Mudge was reading Conrad's "Typhoon" given her by the chief officer. She was elated at the end of another gala night. He had danced with her three times and sat out a tango. Every night was a gala night on the Mareña.

She imagined herself in his arms, while he leaned down to kiss her.

She imagined herself in his arms, while he leaned down to kiss her.

It looks that way. Did you notice the boat slow down in the middle of the night on Friday?"

"No, I was probably sound asleep."

"That was to bury a member of the crew who died of malaria. And when we leave Ceylon we must slow down to lose a wreath out at the spot where one of the cruise boats was buried last year. He ate some bad food in India."

Patty shuddered. It had not occurred to her that the Mareña was anything but a peaceful pleasure boat.

But Dick went on: "Don't forget that this is a waltz night, and not nearly so peaceful as the anchored variety. Do you want to know what is really going on around you among the passengers? In one stateroom a husband comes in late from a poker game each night and threatens to kill his wife. They're a bawdy pair from Cleveland who curse and swear at each other, and are always drunk. We've had to go in and still them a few times. I think he'll murder her yet, when he gets drunk enough."

"And there's the little teacher who has been saving her pennies for twenty years to go around the world and now that she's on the boat, she's afraid she hasn't money enough to take her safely home. She doesn't dare go ashore by herself because of the constant demand for tips and fees."

"It's Miss Mudge, isn't it?" inquired Patty.

"Yes, since you've guessed it and a very good sport, too."

"Then there's the man who's run-

Miss Mudge was sure that it was the voice of the man whose wife was ill.

They had all gone now except the man who usually stayed the longest. The conversation was pitched to a lower note, and there were long pauses when nothing was said at all.

At last she fell asleep, but not for long. Wakening with a sense of disturbance, she switched on the light over her bed to look at her watch. Half-past three and a commission next door! Miss Foster and her friend were singing at the pitch of their voices. A glass went smash and the song broke off.

Miss Mudge disappeared beneath the clothes until only her hairpin-clipped fringe showed. Miss Foster started the victrola, choosing the song, "I wanna be loved." As soon as it was finished she put it on again. By the tenth time it was getting a little boring. An hour later the man stumbled out of the cabin. Still the victrola went on.

Miss Mudge was desperately tired. The girl must be mad. Sitting up in bed she knocked hesitantly on the wall, but there was no reply except the clinking of ice in a glass. Seven o'clock and the music still went on like a tireless hurdy-gurdy.

Worn out, Miss Mudge fell asleep at last. A noise awakened her at ten. The victrola was grinding the same refrain. At last she was angry.

She sat up and stood. She thumped loudly on the wall. The music whirled to a slow stop. Miss Foster flopped noisily on her bed.

Jenny was in a light-hearted mood when the Mareña anchored off Panama in a thick heat wave. Her mind was no longer locked in high tension and she talked with delicate animation. For three days Peter had been his old tender self. So far as she knew, he had seen nothing of Clare. Going ashore, she wore a gray flowered frock of poppy silk and a wide straw hat.

"I'm happy today, Peter," she announced.

"Why are you so happy, Jenny?" His gaze was on her suddenly, cool and searching. He caught her hand, turned it over and kissed the curled palm. Jenny did not answer.

Peter caught up his cigarettes, gave a fistful to Jenny, with his initials engraved in the corner. Jenny had always admired it, and she felt sure that there was a story connected with it. Far he seemed to prize it more than any other thing he possessed. He took out a cigarette, flipped the case over to her and remarked, "But it is your big, Jenny."

"Why?"

"Mostly because I want you to do something I'm extraordinarily fond of."

"You must expect to have your pockets picked in Bangkok?"

"Perhaps I do."

He smiled and she dropped it into her bag.

Leaving the train at Bangkok, they drove past trim, white houses, through immaculate streets.

They boarded a launch and sailed up the Menam to the king's palace, slowly approaching the warts that cluster around it. The scene seemed to Jenny to have sprung full bloom from the pages of Hans Andersen.

They walked past the devious, giant grotesques intended to frighten away the devils.

"I think when we choose our home in England, I should like a deva to guard my door," said Jenny, laughing at the apikid monsters.

They wandered through the courtyard of the compound, Jenny's face alight with interest. Peter was silent. She had rarely seen him look so handsome.

"It's nearly twelve o'clock," he remarked, twisting his elbow to look at his wrist watch.

"As if time mattered in the least! I feel that this is a spot where hours have no meaning."

They went into the temple that held the Emerald Buddha. It was like going into a dark cave filled with green water. For several minutes they could see nothing but a filtered jade mist, for the sun was still in their eyes. Jenny leaned on her parasol and rested.

"Jenny darling!" said Peter, urgently.

"Yes?" She swung around in response to something in his voice. He touched her hand and whispered: "It's nothing. It doesn't matter, but you're very helpless, aren't you, dear?"

LEFT-OVERS SUPREME

What can you do with left-over potatoes, ham, pork, peas or chicken? Plenty! With a few pickles and other common foods from emergency shelf and refrigerator, dozens of delightful left-over dishes may be prepared. Here are two—delicious enough to prove my claim:

Meat-In-One Salad

- 1 cup boiled potatoes, diced
- 2 cups boiled ham or pork, diced
- ½ cup peas
- 2 pickles, chopped
- ½ cup celery, diced
- 2 sweet pickles, finely diced
- ½ cup mayonnaise

Toss ingredients together lightly. Arrange on crisp lettuce. Garnish with additional mayonnaise and sweet pickles, cut in quarters, lengthwise.

Savory Chicken

- 2 cups cooked chicken
- 1 cup chicken gravy or broth
- ½ cup sweet or homemade acid pickles, chopped
- 1 pickle, chopped
- ½ teaspoon salt

Buttered toast.

Combine in the top of a double boiler, chicken, cut in small pieces, gravy or broth, sweet or homemade style pickles, pimiento and salt. Cook over boiling water 20 minutes or longer. If broth is used thicken mixture with 1 tablespoon of flour mixed to a paste with a little cold water. Stir until thickened. Serve on hot buttered toast or in patty balls. Serves 6.

"LIMA NIGHT" DISHES

Did you ever celebrate "Lima Night" in your home—with a heaping, steaming Lima bean dish as the backbone of an unusual dinner? It's a novelty that will please. Here are two excellent recipes for such main-course dishes.

Lima and Ham Loaf

- 1 cup cooked, dried Limas
- 1 cup ground ham
- 1 cup chili sauce or catsup
- 2 eggs, beaten
- 1 teaspoon minced onion
- 1 tablespoon melted butter
- 1 cup cracker crumbs
- ½ teaspoon salt
- ½ teaspoon pepper

Put Limas through a coarse strainer. Add ham, chili sauce, eggs, pepper, salt, minced onion, butter and cracker crumbs. Shape into a loaf, place in a buttered pan in a moderate oven (350 degrees F.) and bake for 30 minutes, basting occasionally with the melted butter. Serve with brown gravy.

Baked Limas With Marshmallows

- 3 cups cooked dried Limas

A cozy fire A lovely woman A cup o' tea

IN SELLING TEA,

We are not concerned with ugly, shriveled leaves which color hot water a yellowish brown, but with a cozy fire, the silver tea set, the memory of a lovely woman, a thousand rich and beautiful experiences, hauntpictures of Japanese hillsides and sunshine.

In days of old when pirates bold made life hazardous for merchant ships at sea there was a glamour and romance about merchandising which appears to have been lost.

This need not be. Let us think of all the hands which have had a part in putting a spool of silk thread on our local store shelves, the Japanese who picked the silkworm's cocoon, the coolie who hauled it to market, the warehouse men, the spinners, the truckmen at the docks here, the jobbers, the wholesalers, the salesmen, the trainmen, the local express man and finally those who unpack and mark it and have it handy when you want it.

The local merchant represents a long line of servants working for you that you may have a spool of silk or a bit of tea when you want it.

If you knew their inner attitudes you would find that most business men think of their work as a way of rendering human service.

Those who might have once thought of merchandising as a means of amassing a fortune have long since abandoned the thought because they realize it isn't being done any more.

Read the advertisements of your local merchants thinking of the convenient service they render — usually having what you want when you want it, in season and out.

This Week in Washington

Entirely apart from the veterans' bonus, Congress is waking up to a realization that some new and additional taxes must be levied if the Government is going to come anywhere near keeping its normal expenses within its income.

There is nothing your average Congressman dislikes in an election year more than to levy new taxes. What Congress most enjoys doing, as the time approaches for its members to stand for re-election, is spending money.

Just how far the boys can go in free spending along new lines is puzzling them in view of the fact that there is a big additional deficit to be made up, to fill the gap in the estimated income which was left when the Supreme Court declared the AAA unconstitutional.

It is not only that $200,000,000 or so of processing taxes, which had been imposed in the lower courts that must be returned to the manufacturers who deposited these funds under protest. It is also the processing taxes which the President estimated in his budget for the next fiscal year.

Now Congress must find money to pay the farmers, not only under existing AAA contracts, which are presumably valid and enforceable, but also to do something else for the farmers.

Settlement Against Borrowing. How to raise, roughly, a billion dollars more by taxation is what is worrying Congress. The public sentiment against further Government borrowing is being felt on Capitol Hill and at the White House.

But borrowing is the easy way out for the time being and there is no serious apprehension that the Government's credit would be greatly impaired if it should borrow another few billions. That is, provided investors were willing to lend the money.

Secretary Morgenthau, talking to the Senate Finance Committee a few days ago, sounded a warning note. One of the Senators asked him bluntly how far Government borrowing could go. Mr. Morgenthau replied that he could not tell. It was sure that whenever the banks and big finance institutions refused to buy Government bonds except at a heavy discount, the result might prove alarming.

So the idea of further borrowing is being kept in the background while earnest considerations are being given to the effort to find a painless form of taxation that stands any chance of being adopted. There is still a very strong belief that the most effective method of raising additional Federal funds would be a general manufacturers' sales tax. So much political opposition has been exerted against this plan in the past, however, that it seems doubtful that it will be adopted, except as a last resort.

Deadlock on Farm Bill

Seemingly little progress has been made toward a solution of the farm problem. Serious doubts have been raised as to whether an effective method of putting money into the pockets of the farmers can be worked out under the soil conservation act of 1935. Also, the constitutionality of that act is being questioned in the Congressional cloak rooms. In any event, it would have to be amended in its bounty provisions, and nobody has so far presented a specific list of amendments which seem likely to meet the approval either of Congress or of the Supreme Court.

One thing is becoming increasingly clear as the size of the deficit and the growing volume of the national debt are considered by serious-minded statesmen on Capitol Hill. That is that the long talked of "inflation" is seemingly close at hand.

The tremendous volume of unused bank credit, arising from the increase of bank deposits based on Government borrowing, is bound to find an outlet before very long, or so some of the financial experts of the Administration believe.

Secretary Morgenthau and Chairman Eccles of the Federal Reserve Board recognize this danger. They are using all the influence they can exert to block plans for inflation of the currency. It has been pointed out, however, that the effect of credit inflation on a huge scale might easily be as serious as would the printing of greenbacks.

Money is cheaper now than it has ever been in America. That is just another way of saying that all commodity prices are headed still upward.

Very hopeful utterances are heard here, and there seem to be pretty definite indications, that a real movement for home building on the greatest scale ever dreamed of is beginning, with funds supplied by private capital under Government guarantees of the safety of mortgage investments.

Bonus Money Into Homes

If this building movement were once well started, the Administration's housing advisers believe, it would absorb in the building supply industries such a high percentage of the unemployed workers as to reduce the burden of relief to a minimum.

The man who has his wealth in real estate or other non-perishable commodities instead of in cash or bank credits, when an inflation movement gets into full swing, has usually proved to be better off than the neighbor who did not see it coming.

Strength is given to the belief in a coming building boom by the report of the American Legion that more than a quarter of the bonus money will be spent by Legionnaires for homes. That is the result of a questionnaire recently sent out.

The spending of the rest of the bonus distribution would be in the payment of bills and old debts, the purchase of life insurance, automobile, clothing, home equipment and house furnishings. It might prove to be a quick and powerful stimulus to retail trade all over the country.

KING GEORGE'S LAST

MESSAGE TO EMPIRE

In answer to a large number of requests to reprint the message which was broadcast by radio to the British Empire by our late King George V., that these famous words may be kept and handed down as souvenirs, we again publish the following which is the exact wording of our former monarch's Christmas Day (1935) message:—

"My Dear Friends—
"I wish you all, my dear friends, a happy Christmas. I have been deeply touched by the greetings which in the last few minutes have reached me from all parts of the Empire.

"Let me in response send to each of you a greeting from myself. My words will be very simple, but spoken from the heart, on this family festival of Christmas.

"The year that is passing—the twenty-fifth since my accession—has been to me most memorable. It called forth a spontaneous offering of loyalty—and may I say of love, which the Queen and I can never forget.

"How could I fail to note in all the rejoicing not merely respect for the Throne but a warm and generous remembrance of the men themselves who, may God help him, have been placed on it.

"It is this personal link between me and my people which I value more than I can say. It binds us together in all our common joys and sorrows, as when this year you showed your happiness in the marriage of my son, and your sympathy in the death of my beloved sister.

"I feel this link now as I speak to you. For I am thinking not so much of the Empire itself as of the individual men, women and children who live within it, whether they are dwelling here at home or in some distant outpost of the Empire.

"In Europe and many parts of the world anxieties surround us. It is good to think that our own family of peoples is at peace in itself and united in one desire to be at peace with other nations—the friend of all, the enemy of none. May the spirit of goodwill and mutual helpfulness grow and spread! Then will bring not only the blessing of peace but a solution of the economic troubles which still beset us.

"To those who are suffering, whether in this country or in any part

BRUCE BARTON Says:

... Liberals, pain in neck holds a responsible business position in New York is a member of one of the old old families. Her two sisters are Social Registerites in a conservative eastern city, and spend much time shaking their heads and pitying their younger sister. "Poor child," they murmur. "She must be at the office every morning at nine. Sometimes the company sends her out on long trips. She travels alone in trains; she even flies. We urge her to come back and live with us, but she is so stubborn that she can't bear to admit she has made a mistake."

On her side, the young lady says: "I have a thrilling time, but my poor sisters, what a dull life they lead—bridge and luncheons and more bridge and dinners and symphony concerts. It would drive me crazy. I pity them."

Our land is full of city people pitying country dwellers; country people pitying the hemmed-in residents of the city; bachelors pitying the fathers of big families, and fathers wondering how bachelors can think that they get anything out of life at all.

A rich old manufacturer went to pay a last call on the night-watchman of his factory. The two had started as boys on the bench together, but while the one grew rich, the other loved liquor and irresponsibility too well. The rich man cleared his throat to utter a few words of condolence. The dying man raised a warning hand: "None of your sympathy," he cried. "You mean all right, but I don't need it. I've had a whole lot more fun out of living than you ever will have."

Pity that expresses itself in helplessness is a noble thing. But too much so-called pity is nothing but an emotional cocktail wherewith a somewhat complacent individual ignores a toast to what he fancies is his own superior judgment or taste!

A certain famous Senator, whose gymnastics I have watched for thirty years, has been on all sides of most questions except those which involve votes in his home state. On those questions—silver juggling, potato control, Townsend Plan, or whatever, you always know where to find him. Yet he is a "statesman" and a great "liberal."

I sometimes wonder if professional liberalism is so much a matter of thought as of torpid livers and unfortunate financial experience. People whose livers are active, and whose affairs progress, believe in the country and want to see it go ahead.

This is an exaggeration; of course not a fair statement. But the mental snootiness of professional "liberals" has long given me a pain.

I wish I knew why they are, what they want, and what evidence they have that things would be better if they were given what they want.

... Pity often not wanted

A cultivated young woman who

of the "Empire, I offer my deepest sympathy. "Once again as I close I send to you all, and not the least to the my trust Christmas wishes, and those of my dear wife, my children and grandchildren who are with me today. I add a heartfelt prayer that wherever you are, God may bless and keep you always."

FEATURES SCHOOL BILL

Aim of the proposed new school bill is to provide the best possible education for the welfare of the Alberta boys and girls, declared Premier William Aberhart, when asked to comment on features of the bill.

"This proposed bill," he said, "is practically the only way in which new curriculum adequate for today's needs for rural students can be provided. The whole bill is a rural improvement education bill and is neither pro-teacher nor anti-teacher."

There were six main features of the bill, he said:

1. Aim to eliminate closing of schools and shortening of the school year.

2. Eliminate poorer equipment in many rural schools.

3. Eliminate unnecessary local and provincial expenses of auditors and secretaries-treasurers.

4. Remove the lack of adequate supervision of teachers.

5. Decrease high school fees.

6. Provide secondary education in places where it would not otherwise be available.

"The government," he said, "feels that these worthwhile objects can be achieved without adding to the total cost of education."

Quality in beef cannot exist without a reasonable amount of fat. However, it should not be assumed that, because beef must be fat in order to be good, all fat beef is good beef. Cows may carry a considerable amount of fat, but neither the fat nor the lean from an animal possesses the desired quality.

PREPARING GOVT. FORMS FOR REGISTRATION

Forms upon which Alberta residents will register to obtain their Social Credit dividends are not yet completed, according to Premier William Aberhart. Several forms have been considered and decision has been delayed on a final draft. The Premier feels that final decision is unnecessary until plans are all ready to proceed with implementing the scheme.

It is unlikely that the forms will be sent out until after the session and until Major C. H. Douglas, chief reconstruction adviser, arrives here.

There will be no need of individuals obtaining any assistance in filling out the forms, said the Premier. They will be easily filled out and will be returned direct to the government, with none but the filler-in and the government knowing the content.
